

2021 Cotton Production Meetings

The University of Georgia Cotton Team would like to invite you to attend our annual cotton county production meetings virtually. Specialists from the University of Georgia Extension Cotton Team will discuss current topics covering agronomics, fertility, irrigation, pest management, and economics with results from recent field trials.

All of these talks will be presented on four separate days through January and February to accommodate your schedule as best possible. Pesticide and CCA license credits are being applied for and will be available for attendees. Please only register for one date. The dates are as follows:

Cotton	January 19, 2021	6:00 PM to 8:30 PM
Cotton	January 28, 2021	9:30 AM to 12:00 PM
Cotton	February 2, 2021	6:00 PM to 8:30 PM
Cotton	February 24, 2021	9:30 AM to 12:00 PM

If you are going to watch the meetings from your own computer, you must use the link below to register for the meeting in order to receive your access link. If you need CCA CEU and/or GA Pesticide credits, your license number and county information must be entered into the registration form as well. Zoom links to access the meetings will be sent to the email address entered at registration the day of the meeting. See registration link below.

<https://2021ugacotton.eventbrite.com>

If you are attending a viewing session hosted by your county office then preregistration via Eventbrite is not necessary; however, you MUST preregister with your local office to attend (in compliance with all UGA Covid requirements). All CCA CEU and GA pesticide credit information will be collected in your county office.

We look forward to the continued opportunity to serve the State's growers.

Phillip Roberts
Extension Cotton Entomologist
University of Georgia